

GO SEE FOR YOURSELF WHO IS GOING TO TRIAL

People come into my office on a regular basis. I don't really enjoy trying to tell people on my accolades. However, I have handled cases ranging from the Median drug cartel in Federal court; manslaughter; drug cases; D.U.I's, all types of sex cases and before the United Nations. It just does not feel right to me to brag. I have cautioned people on numerous things. One is hiring an attorney that's office is "far" from the courthouse. Why? Well just think about it. If you were to hire a builder; plumber; or mechanic far from your home and they had to travel to you to get the job done, do you think that would cost more? You know the answer. Attorneys are not different. And should you want a trial and it takes several days, do you think a small fee would inspire them to travel and try your case. You know the answer. Now add the price of gas today.

However, such talk is not pleasant to me. I think if someone is concerned about retaining an attorney and has not immediately retained an attorney, proceed to a scheduled sentencing in court. Possibly request the Clerk for a sentencing docket. You might be surprised. You will see one or more firms handling numerous clients. Probably you will see a mass of pleas. You might ask how did they get so many clients. Mass advertising. Why? Compromising is their game, and you will observe that in the courtroom every month. Is that what you desire? Then hire away.

However, should you want your case to be massaged, analyzed, motion practice if appropriate, then look for those firms that are setting trials and do not seek volume. Many that set trials are only applying pressure for last minute deals on the state and have no intent to even try the case. Another tactic.

Your welcome to schedule an appointment and speak with me for free. I'll give you a real service for a reasonable price. But if your looking for the cheapest game in town or out of town, you know what to expect. Check out my reviews.

Sincerely,

Jeffrey W. Wiggs, Esq.

307 N. Barrow Ave.

Tavares, Fl. 32778

#0766186

Ph: (352) 253-0100